

Sometimes you are surprised. And I'm very, very happy!

Recently I found out that I'm one of the selected to represent Sweden in the big international watercolor exhibition "Fabriano in Acquarello 2025" in Italy this spring! It is the world's largest watercolor exhibition and the exhibition will be shown in Fabriano at the Palazzo del Podestà and at the Fabriano paper museum between April 27 - June 15. There I will show my painting "Homeland".

I am so proud that I have been chosen to participate in this fine exhibition!

A group of people, including children and adults, are holding up their watercolor paintings. They are standing in a line, and the paintings are displayed in front of them. The background is a simple, light-colored wall.
